Dear Parents

Yesterday, Ian Stevens from the NSPCC talked to the children in Assembly about the work of the Society, including ChildLine and the aim to bring a full stop to child cruelty. This was an important assembly for the children, reinforcing the messages about keeping safe and reminding the children they always have someone to turn to in the NSPCC. The children are invited to help other children by raising some money.

Following the Assembly, your child has brought home a number activity sheet and sponsor form. Please support this worthy cause and encourage your child to participate. Please ensure the forms and sponsor money are returned to school by Wednesday 28th January 2009.

All the money raised here goes to the NSPCC to spend on children as part of their Full Stop Campaign, to let no cry go unheard; and, to bring an end to child cruelty.

Your support is much appreciated. Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Louise Metherell
